In reply, you are informed that cotton yarns for Ubo on embroidery machines were formerly termed for duty at one-half of 1 cent per hundred yards under paragraph 303 of the tariff, but in view of the decision in the case of Loeb Schoenfeldt v. United States (150 Fed. Rep., 327; T. D. 27752). such yarns are now being returned for duty as cotton yam, according to number ana condition, under paragraph 302 of the tariff. No. 50s, which were formerly returned at the equivalent of 42 cents per pound are now returned at 12$ cents per pound; No. 100a, which were returned at the equivalent of 91.00 per pound, are now returned at 36 cents per pound. In connection with this decision of the federal court we had no notice of the trial of the case at New York, or notice of the original contention when it was raised before the Board of United States General Appraisers. The language used in section 303 is sweeping and covers every grade of embroidery cotton. We simply ask that the manifest intention of Congress as expressed in the Dingley Act be put into effect. I mean by this that the language of section 303 should be so changed as to include all classes of embroidery cottons that the duties which may be decided upon for this class of merchandise. May I have the honor of...
